

Building the Future Nursing Workforce

Albany State University - Phoebe Associate of Science in Nursing Evening Track

Albany State University and Phoebe Putney Health System have partnered to expand access to nursing education through the newly created Phoebe Associate of Science in Nursing (ASN) Evening Track. This new program provides students with the flexibility to pursue their nursing degree while connecting with employment opportunities and support resources available at Phoebe.

The Phoebe ASN Evening Track combines Albany State University's academic excellence with Phoebe's commitment to developing future nurses through financial and professional support.

Program Benefits:

- Evening course schedule designed to accommodate working adults and non-traditional students
- Financial stipends provided each semester for eligible participants
- Free academic tutoring and success coaching
- Mentoring from nursing professionals
- Direct pathway to nursing employment opportunities at Phoebe following graduation and licensure
- Receive $10,000 in financial funding as part of a two-year work commitment

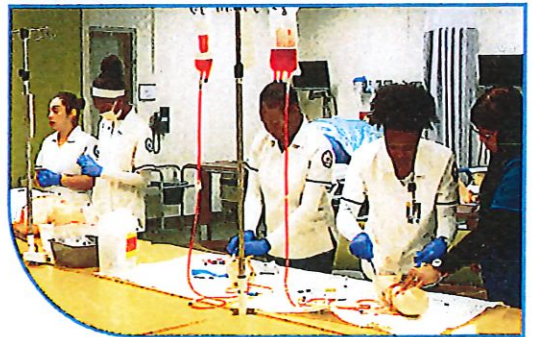

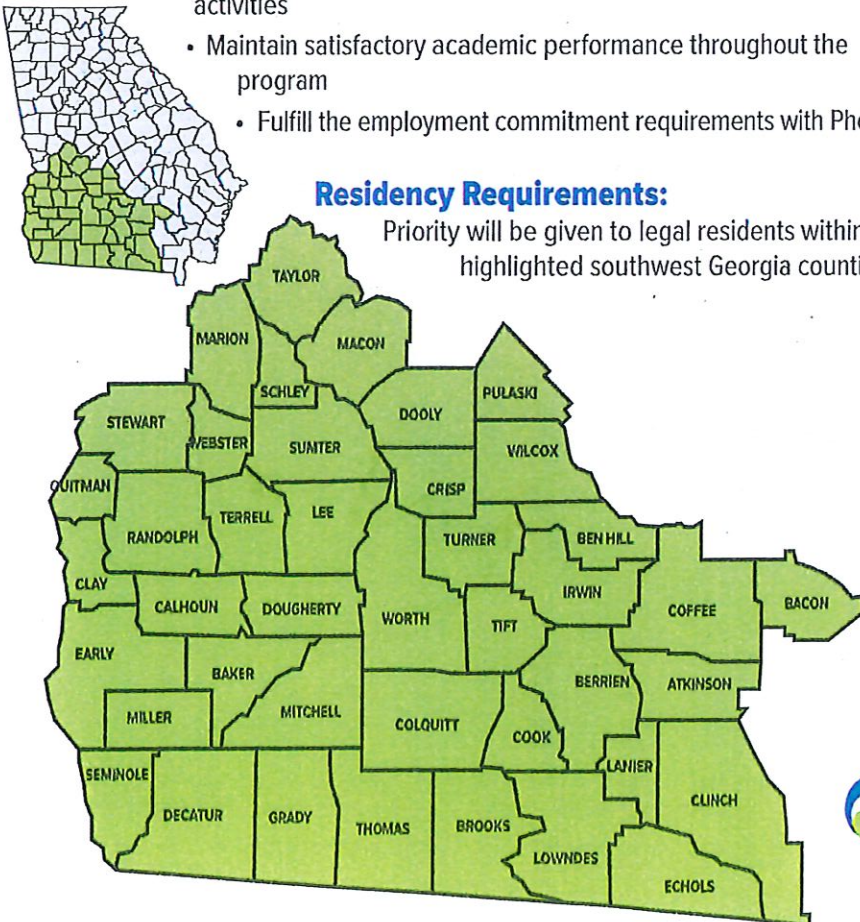

Participant Expectations:

Students accepted into the Phoebe ASN Evening Track are required to:

- Meet all admission, progression, and graduation requirements established by Albany State University and the Department of Nursing
 - Participate in mandatory tutoring, mentoring, and student success activities
 - Maintain satisfactory academic performance throughout the program
 - Fulfill the employment commitment requirements with Phoebe

Residency Requirements:

Priority will be given to legal residents within the highlighted southwest Georgia counties.

18704_7/26

Interested in learning more?

Contact the Albany State University
Department of Nursing at 229-500-2329 for further details.

