How do I find the book I need?

You can look for the book you need by category (ex. Education, fiction, history, psychology, etc.), or you can start by performing a basic search.

You can also search for books using the title, subject, author, publisher, or ISBN in an advanced search.

You are able to limit your results by full text, download available, publication date, subject, and category.

Select the book you would like to view and click “eBook full text” to view the book in the eBook full text viewer or click download and login to your My EBSCO account to checkout and download the book.

In the full text viewer you will have the options available to print, save, cite, select and e-mail pages from the eBook, and more.

Be sure to utilize Boolean Operators and remember this is just like any other database in GALILEO when searching for results!
