Welcome to Albany State University's New Student Orientation Program

We are pleased you have decided to begin or continue your collegiate studies at Albany State University (ASU). We invite you to participate in the New Student Orientation Program (NSOP) because we want to make sure you successfully transition to ASU and have a great experience as a new student.

The NSOP will provide opportunities for you to meet with an academic advisor, register for classes, and learn more about the University's academic programs, student life, and campus resources. If you are a new student with fewer than 15 college credit hours, your orientation to the University will continue in the ASU 1101 course once the semester begins.

The information on this webpage will answer questions you may have about the orientation and guide you through the orientation registration process. We hope you will also begin to explore the University's website by clicking the Students link near the top of the ASU homepage. However, your first step in the orientation process is to review the Frequently Asked Questions before you register for orientation.
